A REMARKABLY SUCCESSFUL MEETING, WITH

LARGE ATTENDANCE. The friends of Linden seem to increase in numbers as the meeting goes on. Yesterday the attendance was the best of the week, and was about as large as the association can accommodate with any degree of comfort. It was a great day for the backers of public form, six of the seven favorites rewarding the confidence of their backers.

The outsider to win was in the opening race, at a mile and an eighth, Correction, who has repeatedly found six furlongs apparently too long a arney to suit her, proving the winner in easy fashion. Penn rode her in faultless style, keeping her close up to the stretch, where he sent her to the front, and for the rest of the way she had no difficulty in retaining her advantage. She won by more than a length, Picknicker second, a neck before Loantaka

Florence and Milan were well supported in the second race, with Florence the favorite. Florence held the others safe throughout, coming to the front in the last furlong, and at the finish Reiff had her under a pull, a neck before Milan, who beat Pirate Chief a length for the place.

Tormentor clearly outclassed those whom he was asked to meet in the third race, and the plungers willing to back him at almost any figure, tak ing 1 to 3 in the late betting. He found an unexpected contender in Captain Wagener, who went off at the start as if he were going to make a runaway race of it, but he tired badly at the end, and Tormentor beat him by a length and a half. Watterson was third, two lengths behind Captain

Waterson was third, two lengths behind Captain Wagener.

Tom Harding captured the fourth race in the easiest possible manner. He led all the way and really won in a gallep, although McCafferty's contertions in the last few strides might lead the simple-minded to think it the hardest kind of a struggle for him. Tom Harding carried off first shonors by a neck, Melba second, a length and a haif before Little Fred.

The fifth race was another easily earned victory, Reginald making nearly all the running, and winning under a puil by two lengths, Play or Pay second, a neck before Uncle Jess.

The sixth race was between the two favorites—Beansey and Kilkenny. The latter led for seven furlongs and then gave way to Heansey, who required little urging to win by two lengths, Kilkenny beat Harry Alonzo three lengths for the

The last race had only two starters—Tom Tough and Vestibule. Both were heavily played with stable money, and this furnished the only well-contested finish of the day. Tom Tough went off at the start and soon had a lead of three lengths, and at the head of the homestretch he still held that advantage. In the run home, however, he began to lose ground, which caused his rider to lose his head, the result of which was that he just escaped defeat, for as they reached the finish Vestibule was only beaten by a head.

AN INTERESTING GAME AT HARVARD. AN INTERISTING GAME AT HARVARD.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 20 (Special).—Harvard Coachers and Harvard Varsity played two interesting halves of ten minutes each on Jarvis Field this afternoon, each side acoring a touchdown and goal. The Coachers included many old stars who evidently had not forgotten the Pricks of their youth. Victor, Harding, Bangs, Highlands, Perry, Upton, Elanckard, Hallowell, Grosby, Trafford, Lake and Saxe were the "grad" eleven. They acored first, when Hallowell picked up Donlop's fumble of Trafford's punt. The Varsity could not score until the second half. They were just beginning to settle down to Trained's paint. They were just beginning to settle down to account half. They were just beginning to settle down to already work when time was called, with the ball on the five-yard line. There was a great deal of scrapping and horseplay, which seemed greatly to amuse the 2,000 spectators. On Wednesday a regular exhibition game will probably be played with the same team.

THE YALE CLASS BOAT RACES. New-Haven, Oct. 20 (Special).—Yale's annual fall regata will take place to-morrow on Lake Whitney. This is the only relic of the historic class contests left at Yale. Football and baseball matches between the classes have disappeared, and only the fall regatta keeps alive the old class rivairy. The scientific and the academic departments of the freshmen class will enter crews tomorrow, and the winner will race the winner of the sephomore-junior class contest for the class championship of the university. Besides the contests for the eightour crews, there will be a single scull race for the Ford frophy Cup. It is expected that George Adee, the veteran earsman and coach, will be up from New-York

NOTES ON RACING AFFAIRS.

The Linden races continue to attract large crowds of race-goers. The betting yesterday recalled old times. Many of the bookmakers accepted over $3,000 in wagers on each race. One of them is becoming extremely un-popular with his fellows and the public. Many times when the market has settled, and the odds on the slates correspond, the unpopular bookmaker shouts a point higher odds a minst the favorite than the others. The betters some of the booktankers who declined t) make book yes-terday say that they do not care to make a book unless the unjoining person changes his methods.

The racing was all that could be desired by the public, as sky of the seven contests on the card were won by

The close season from December 1 to March 1 has the values of horses of moderate calibre to decaused the prices of horses of moderate calibre to de-preciate at least 40 per cent and the market is glutted. Should there be a continuous circuit of racing without opposition next year the prices of such horses are not likely to advance. The men who breed for the market will probably feel the effects of a close season more than any others associated with the turf.

The leading racing men on the American turf, such as

J. R. & F. P. Keene, August Beimont, W. P. Thompson, W. O'B. Macdenough, J. A., A. H. & D. H. Morris, Richard Croker, S. S. Brown, Pierre Lorillard, F. NIGHTINGALE'S GREAT PERFORMANCE. WITH A BICYCLE SULKY SHE COVERS THREE MILES IN 6:5512, LOWERING THE REU-

Nashville, Oct. 20 (Special).—With the continuance of the spiendid weather which has favored the suikles here this week, the horses put in some more rapid miles over the excellent course at Cumberland Park to-day. All the heats were well below 2:20, and the three winners of the for three miles trotting. Nightingule, the chestnut mare in C. J. Hamlin's string, was asked to beat the 7:214 which Huntress made for this distance at Prospect Park. Long Island, in 1872. The bicycle sulky aided the Buffalo mare to accomplish the task in a fashion that supprised everybody, even her owner. The first mile was covered in 2:222, the two miles in 4:11, and the third mile in 2:142, making a total of 6:552 for the three miles, improving the old mark by 25% seconds. A number of Italians employed on the works at the new Quaker Bridge dam, at Sing Sing, began a riot there yesterday afternoon. Angelo Palladino and Henry Espicolo are the proprietors of a boarding-house at the dam. Recently the contractor James Coleman, told all the Italian laborers that they must board with Paliadino and Espicolo. Some of the Italians refused to obey the order; they declared the proprietors charged exorbitant prices for everything. On account of their refusal the Italians were discharged. Yesterday afternoon eleven Italians, armed with clubs, went to the boarding-house and assaulted the proprietors. Espicolo was badly injured and it is feared he will. Give Word was sent to Sing Sing, and Deputy Sheriffs Dietrich, Irving and Rowe and Police Officer Williams went to the place and arrested seven of the rioters. CHARGES AGAINST A FORMER RICH MAN. PATCHOGUE.-Leonard Tippen, formerly a wellterday morning by Deputy Sheriff O'Dell on a charge of forgery. For several months past he has been a fugltive from justice. He left town in July tast, when it is alleged he passed several forged checks and notes upon James Paimer, John M. Price, William T. Jenkins and Dr. A. R. Petit. He Price, William T, Jenkins and Dr. A. R. Petit. He was arrested after a hard chase, several shots being fired before he was brought to bay. The had considerable money at one time. He began his criminal career by stealing a team of horses from S. S. Hammond. He was agrested for this offence, but escaped punishment owing to the increasion of Mrs. Smith, a leader in church society. Next he beat a young man severely and was arrested, but not punished. After his arrest Tippen told the officers that others, supposed to be reputable citizens, had helped him in the forgerles, and that if they did not help him out of this trouble he would turn in evidence against them, as he did not propose to suffer alone. His case will be heard this afternoon.

GOOD PRICES FOR DOWNTOWN REAL ESTATE. Liberty-st. equal to the one on Maiden Lane, forty-five feet. This arrangement is owing to the fact five feet. This arrangement is owing to the fact that the Lawyers' Title Insurance Company, the owners, have recently purchased from the city the plot of ground No. 25 Liberty-st., on which there has been an engine-house standing from time immemorial. The Commissioners of the New-York Sinking Fund on Thursday, October 5, authorized and approved the sale for $110,000. When it is considered that the size of this plot of land, $2x$57, is about equal to one-lifth of the plot adjoining. Nos. 38 and 50 Maiden Lane, extending to Nos. 33 and $2 Liberty-st. owned by S. F. Myers & Co., and purchased by them about a year ago for $361,000, it would appear that the stringency of the money market has no effect on real estate, and that the values in the best office portion on Manhattan
